

Gallery Gachet stands at a transformative moment in its history. From recent renovations to the expansion of our programming, this period marks a significant shift in how we continue to grow.

We are currently seeking new board members for the 2026–2028 term to help guide Gallery Gachet into its next chapter, strengthening our role as a vital voice in contemporary and experimental art, while continuing to operate as a community-rooted space in Vancouver’s Downtown Eastside and Chinatown.

We welcome applicants from a wide range of backgrounds, including artists, social workers, and individuals with experience in mental health, community-based practice, governance, finance, or organizational leadership. We are especially open to younger and emerging arts workers who are interested in learning more about non-profit governance and contributing meaningfully to the cultural sector.

Board service involves an average time commitment of approximately four hours per month, including meetings and occasional committee participation. Gallery Gachet offers professional development support for board members as part of our commitment to shared learning, growth, and collective stewardship.

If you are invested in the role art can play within community, care, and social transformation, we warmly encourage you to apply.
